Standing on the shoulders of Fr. Virgil Michel (1890–1938), Benedictine monk and pioneer of liturgical reform who helped bring the liturgical renewal movement to the United States a century ago, Liturgical

Press is proud to publish resources that support participation and leadership in liturgy and parish life, a central aspect of our founder's vision.

Tracing its roots to April 1926 and the publication of a booklet titled Offeramus, which contained the Ordinary of the Mass arranged for congregational participation, Liturgical Press continues to publish resources for parish use that focus on the riches of the Church's liturgical life so that clergy, religious, and lay people can develop a deeper understanding of the liturgy, and help all to participate more actively and fully in living out their Christian witness in the world.

From Robert to Pope Leo

Our Friendship, His Mission

Armando Jesús Lovera Vásquez

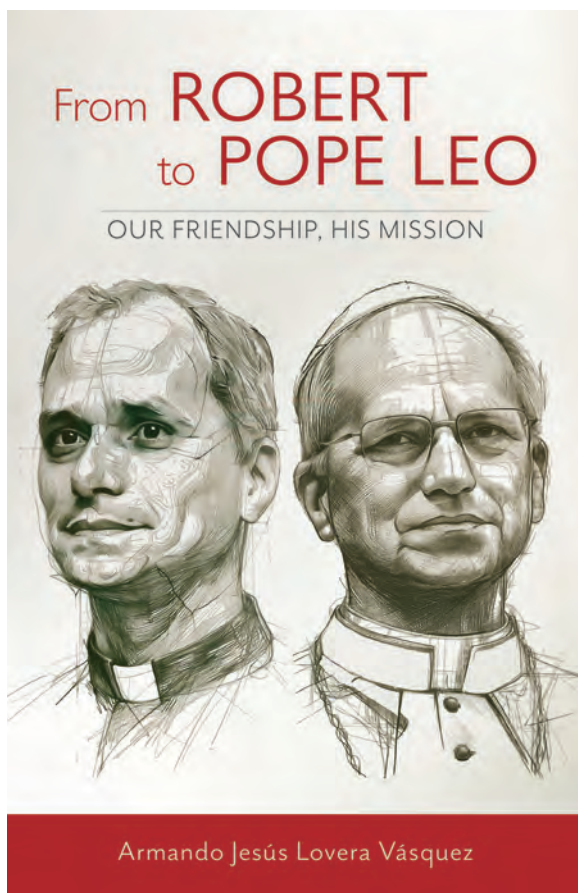

This is the story of a true friendship, a friendship of the soul. In From Robert to Pope Leo, Armando Lovera shares an inside look at the journey of Robert Prevost, now Pope Leo XIV, whom he met in Trujillo, Peru, and with whom he shared his mission, conversations, and daily life for decades. Throughout this inspiring story, Lovera shares personal insight into this spiritual leader of deep faith and compassion. The result is an intimate portrait of a pope and the beginnings of a pontificate, revealing the man in Leo XIV from the depths of friendship and shared faith.

“From Robert to Pope Leo will not only introduce you to the friendship between Padre Roberto and Armando Jesús Lovera Vásquez but will also inspire you to a deeper friendship with Jesus Christ.”

Joe Paprocki, DMin,
master catechist, author,

“Thorough yet accessible, From Robert to Pope Leo is essential reading for anyone who wishes to understand the new pope more, intimately.”

St. Benedict is known as the founder of Western monasticism, and his spirituality of prayer and monasticism have always been essential topics for Liturgical Press.

In keeping with its Benedictine heritage, Liturgical Press has become one of the world's foremost publishers of books nurturing this both basic and unique spiritual tradition today.

Liturgical Press's first published book in 1937 was The Manual for Oblates of St. Benedict which explained how lay people could follow the Benedictine way of life.

In 1948, an English translation of The Rule of St. Benedict was published. This edition is considered to be the most widely used English version of the Rule and is still in print today along with several other resources that explore deep spiritual questions and support a dynamic prayer life.

The Monk Within You

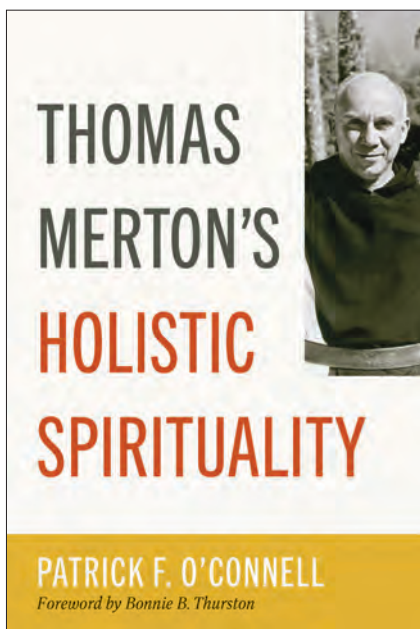

A Path to Serenity and Letting Go

Mauritius Wilde, OSB

The Monk Within You focuses on the life of Saint Benedict (c. 480–547) who had a profound influence on intellectual, church, and cultural history. Just over 40 years after his death, another monk, Gregory the Great, set about transforming his life—not according to our current standards—but rather to present an example that can serve as a model for others. In this way, we see how Benedict develops, which offers us the opportunity to develop our own lives—and to recognize the “monk within us.”

Silence and Speaking Freely

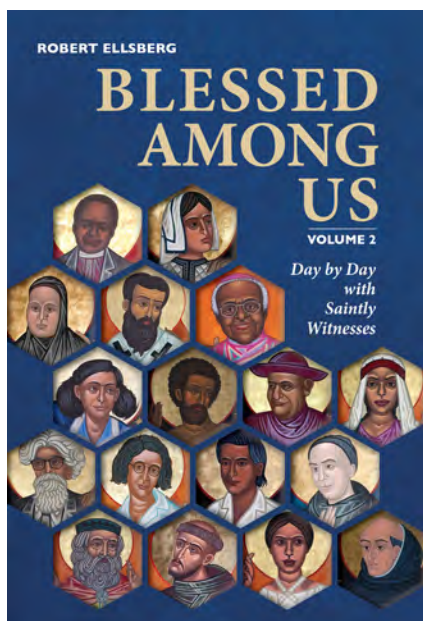

Where We Meet God and Others
Sabino Chialà; Translated by
John McAreavey;
Foreword by Peter Halldorf

The monastic life that has unfolded at the Monastery of Bose, Italy, is the fruit of deep engagement with the early monastic tradition while remaining in dialogue with our modern time and culture. It is from this setting that two insightful texts on an integrated spirituality of communication emerged. In Silence and Speaking Freely, Br. Sabino Chialà combines the wisdom of these texts to form a complementary diptych on the dynamics of human and spiritual maturity.

“At a time when the Church is groping its way toward a more fraternal and synodal path, Silence and Speaking Freely offers needed guidance and inspiration.”

Infant Communion in Roman Catholicism

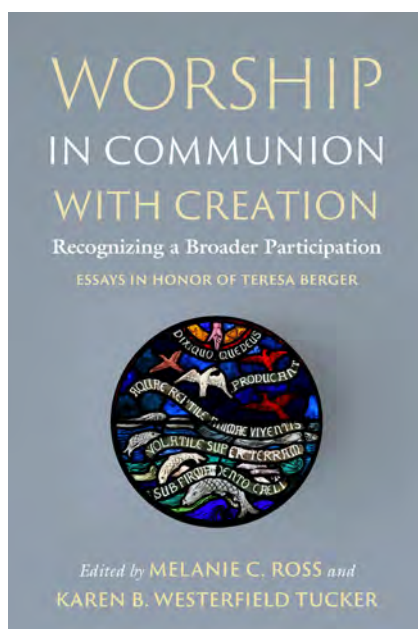

A Historical Liturgical Theology

Christopher M. O'Brien; Foreword
by Dominic Serra

The relationship between children and the Eucharist is one that has been negotiated in a variety of ways throughout the course of Christian history. This work is the first comprehensive study on children and the Eucharist in Roman Catholicism. With historical acuity, theological acumen, and pastoral sensitivity, Christopher M. O'Brien carefully examines the historical development of practice and theology around the age of first communion in Roman Catholicism.

Worship in Communion with Creation

Recognizing a Broader Participation

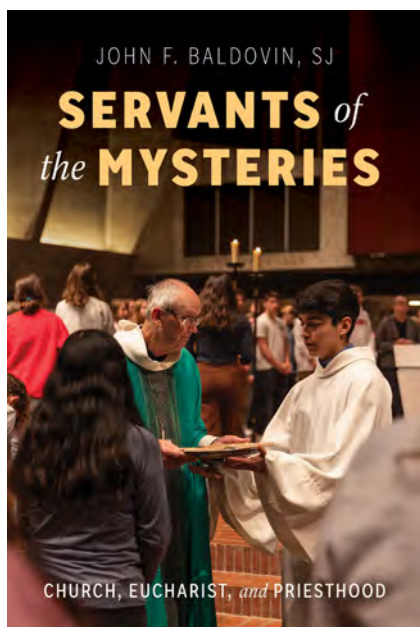

Edited by Melanie C. Ross and
Karen B. Westerfield Tucker;
Foreword by Martin Jean

Written in honor of the prolific liturgical theologian Teresa Berger, the essays included in this collection affirm this biblical witness in studies theological, liturgical, and artistic by offering perspectives and examples from Christian antiquity to the present and by identifying ritual and musical expressions from both the Christian East and West.

"Teresa Berger is one of the most creative minds working in liturgical studies today. Here is a collectively brilliant Berger-inspired response to what is arguably the peril of our time. Read with interest; read with urgency."

Servants of the Mysteries

Church, Eucharist, and Priesthood

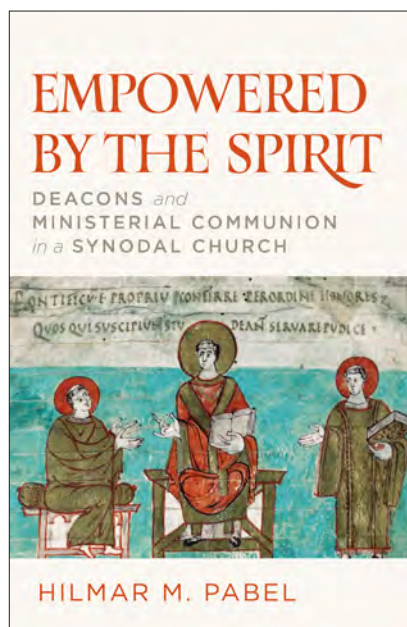

John F. Baldovin, SJ

The theology of the ordained priesthood has been unfinished business following Vatican II, especially with regard to the priest as sacramental minister. In Servants of the Mysteries, John Baldovin brings the theology and sacramental practice of Catholic priests in line with Vatican II's commitment to full, active and conscious participation of all the faithful in the liturgy in light of insights from contemporary Catholic theology of the Eucharist.

"The book is a genuine contribution toward realizing, in thought and practice, the assembly of the baptized as the active subject of the Eucharist and thus, priestly sacramental ministry as service to the people's participation, as members of Christ's Body, in the paschal mystery."

Empowered by the Spirit

Deacons and Ministerial Communion
in a Synodal Church

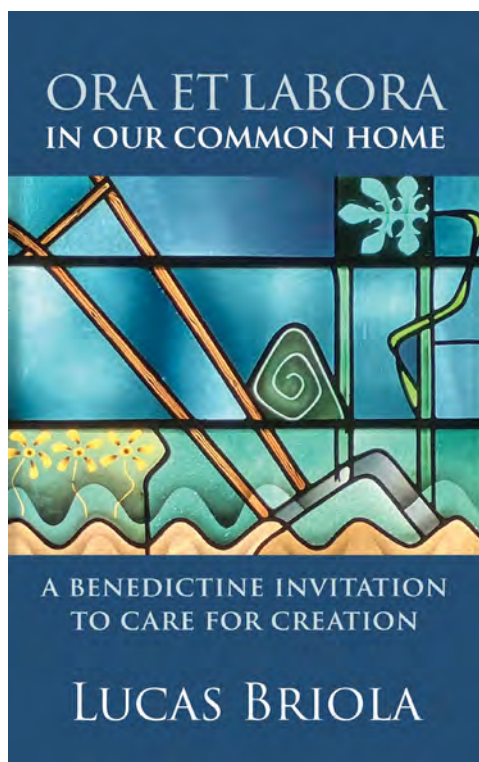

Hilmar M. Pabel

Empowered by the Spirit proposes a robust theology of the diaconate to challenge the conceptual and actual marginalization of deacons in the church. The book emphasizes the Holy Spirit in the sacramentality of the diaconate, in the ministerial communion of deacons with their bishop and priests, and in the role of deacons as servant-leaders in a synodal church.

"Hilmar Pabel's Empowered by the Spirit is a first-rate combination of comprehensive research, incisive theological thought, and rich pastoral insight. This is a book that merits and rewards close engagement."

Ora et Labora in Our Common Home

A Benedictine Invitation to Care for Creation

Lucas Briola

What is the relevance of the Benedictine tradition for an integral ecology? In Ora et Labora in Our Common Home, Lucas Briola unearths the deep roots of the Benedictine tradition and explores how the Benedictine way of life can inform and inspire our care for creation. Through a close reading of the Rule of Benedict, Briola examines seven practices and habits characteristic of that life that sustain an integral ecology: listening, stability, humility, hospitality, eating, working, and praise.

“Lucas Briola’s book stands as a rich source of both theological and practical wisdom on the value and beauty of Benedictine spirituality. I recommend this book for all interested in learning how the principles of monastic spirituality can help us live more fully into our human vocation to care for God, others, and the created world.”

Leo XIV and the Global Church

Unity and Peace

Massimo Faggioli

In Leo XIV and the Global Church, world renowned theologian Massimo Faggioli details how the breakdown in the international order in which the relationship between religion and politics, between church and state, is being redefined by the first pope born in the United States and the first member of the Augustinian Order. In this context, the tensions and influences within Catholicism play a key role in the crisis of the liberal order—in the United States, the other Americas, and Europe—and consequently in relations between the papacy, the global Church, and the international community.

“With remarkable speed, Pope Leo XIV has established himself as an enormously consequential leader of the Roman Catholic Church. Few are better placed to explain how this happened than Massimo Faggioli. He brings to life the rich interaction of influences on Leo—Augustinian, American, Peruvian—that led to his election and shape his Pontificate.”

Listening at the Margins

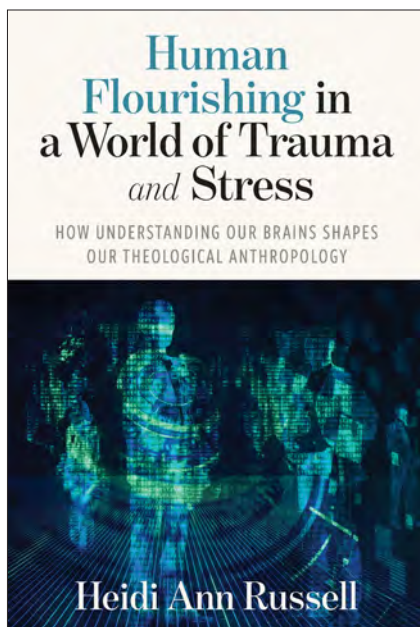

The Role of Spiritual Accompaniment
in the Afternoon of Christianity

Samuel Privara, SJ,
Foreword by Tomáš Halík

Listening at the Margins offers a timely theological and sociological intervention into the “midday crisis” of Western Christianity, reframing this moment of fatigue and disorientation not as decline but as an opportunity for “afternoon growth.” In this book, Samuel Privara, SJ, proposes a comprehensive synodal transformation rooted in a kenotic shift toward humble presence and attentive listening to the Spirit—especially as it speaks through those on the peripheries.

Human Flourishing in a World of Trauma and Stress

How Understanding Our Brains
Shapes Our Theological Anthropology

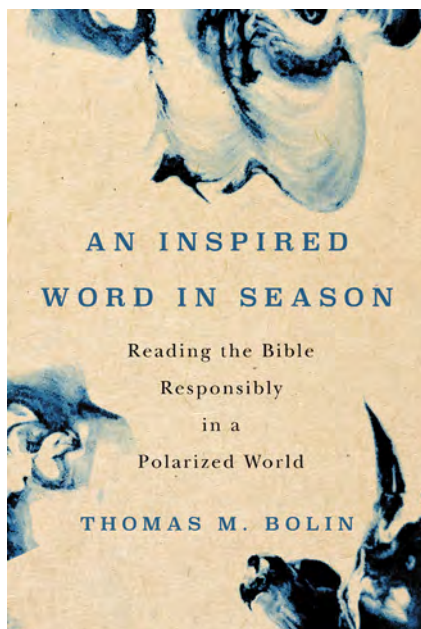

Heidi Ann Russell

As informative as it is practical, this engaging volume explores the theological and pastoral implications of trauma-informed ministry that leads to human flourishing.

“Essential reading for anyone engaged in ministry in a world marked by pervasive stress and trauma. At its heart, this is a book about hope—not cheap hope that glosses over suffering, but the hard-won hope that emerges when we create communities of ‘felt safety’ where broken hearts can be seen and made whole.”

An Inspired Word in Season

Reading the Bible Responsibly
in a Polarized World

Thomas M. Bolin

Can Christians navigate the use of biblical texts that are quoted and used to support points across the political spectrum? In An Inspired Word in Season, biblical scholar Thomas Bolin addresses these pressing questions by equipping readers with an interpretive toolkit to more thoughtfully and faithfully use the Bible as a moral guide to inform their thinking as Christian citizens.

"If every Christian were to read this book, it could have a positive aspect on biblical literacy, biblical interpretation, and reducing polarization in the Church and in the United States for at its heart is a simple prescription: we need to read the Bible with each other guided by the rule of love."

Be Transformed

A Biblical Journey toward a
More Just World

Micah D. Kiel

In Be Transformed, Micah Kiel brings together Catholic social teaching and their biblical roots and applies them to instances of injustice in our world today. By applying art, history, tradition, and Scripture to modern issues, readers will be challenged and empowered to consult these traditions in a meaningful way, every day.

"In this highly readable work, Micah Kiel invites us to a lifelong adventure that is provoked by the person of Christ and the message of the gospels. Though such a journey is demanding, the humble and persevering pilgrim will know the joyful experience of following the Teacher home."

The Johannine Resurrection Narrative

Jesus Risen In
and Among Us

Sandra M. Schneiders, IHM
In collaboration with
Mary L. Coloe, PBVM

Sandra Schneiders's groundbreaking examination of Johannine theology, spirituality and narrative artistry, that was first argued in her dissertation decades ago, is now available for the first time for a wider audience.

In this significant study, Schneiders offers the Johannine Resurrection Narrative of John's Gospel as a rich resource for understanding and developing Christian spirituality. Bringing to her analysis a thorough examination of hermeneutics as well as critical exegesis, Schneiders's major new introduction further positions her argument that theopoetics are the defining character of the Johannine text, exemplified by the Resurrection narrative.

Paul's Pastoral Ministry in the Light of the Gospel

Ronald D. Witherup, PSS

In Paul's Pastoral Ministry "In the Light of the Gospel," Ronald Witherup, PSS, proposes Paul as a model for contemporary ministry based on the pastoral theology of his letters. This careful examination of how Paul's pastoral practice influenced his theology, and how his overarching theology impacted his response to the pastoral situations he encountered as missionary, evangelizer, founder of churches, and pastor explains how theology and the challenges of parochial ministry intersected in Paul's ministry.

"This magnificent book addresses an area of Pauline studies that has been sorely neglected—Saint Paul's pastoral theology. This volume reminds us how the gospel can and should guide our pastoral ministry today."

Clothe Yourselves with Compassion

The Bible on God's Mercy

Leslie J. Hoppe, OFM and
Barbara E. Reid, OP

In recent decades, mercy has been a central theme in papal teaching from Pope Saint John Paul II to Pope Leo XIV, consistently echoing the insistence of his predecessors on the urgent need for compassion, truth-telling, encounter, dialogue, justice, and respect for the dignity of all. In this book, renowned biblical scholars Leslie Hoppe, OFM, and Barbara Reid, OP, explore the biblical witness for this core teaching on compassion—the prime virtue we must “put on” to bring peace and wellbeing to our communities and to our planet.

"A stunningly helpful, inspiring and necessary book that should be read by every believer."

Since 1968, Cistercian Publications has published books in monastic history and spirituality, reaching backward to the early church and forward to the lives and thought of today's laypeople, monks and nuns, and priests.

Beginning in 2004, Liturgical Press and Cistercian Publications announced a new alliance based on the strong continuity that exists between the rich spiritual, intellectual, and aesthetic traditions of both houses. This partnership continues today with the publication of translations of works by the early Cistercian authors like Bernard of Clairvaux (Cistercian Fathers series), scholastic studies of the desert wisdom tradition and other monastics (Cisterican Studies series), as well as books that encourage spiritual exploration and growth (Monastic Wisdom series).

THE SAINT JOHN'S BIBLE

In 1995, Saint John's Abbey and University in Collegeville, Minnesota began a nearly 15-year project to create the first completely handwritten and illuminated Bible commissioned by a Benedictine monastery since the invention of the printing press.

The Saint John's Bible involved 23 artists, under the direction of renowned calligrapher Donald Jackson, writing and drawing on vellum with quill and ink.

Full-color trade editions of this amazing bible were published by Liturgical Press.
