We have new Bible studies! Consider delving into the fascinating book of Revelation or the profoundly spiritual Gospel According to John. And look forward with us to the all-new The Holy Spirit in the Bible by George Smiga, author of the popular study Angels in the Bible. We’re also pleased to have a new two-part Old Testament study, Isaiah, coming in January. All of these studies have video lectures that can be viewed online or on DVD.

I’m proud to join with you in the rich and rewarding work of studying God’s Word. As always, I’m just a phone call or an email away. It would be my pleasure to help you choose your next Bible study or to answer any questions you have about our resources.

Mahri Leonard-Fleckman is assistant professor of Hebrew Bible in the Religious Studies Department at the College of the Holy Cross. She is a frequent contributor to Give Us This Day and co-author of Ruth in the Wisdom Commentary series. Mahri has years of experience as a Bible study facilitator at her home parish in Worcester, Massachusetts.
First Corinthians is Paul’s appeal for unity against divisive conflicts in the Corinthian community. A key conflict was the perceived hierarchy of spiritual gifts. Some church members claimed higher status because of their gifts (it also seems that speaking in tongues was at the top of the hierarchy; see 1 Cor 13:1). Paul interrupts both the hierarchy and the idea that spiritual gifts are an individual’s achievement. In our reading, he emphasizes that nothing comes through the power of the individual and affirms the equality of all who confess that “Jesus is Lord.” Those who confess this receive “gifts” (Greek charismata) from the Holy Spirit, the diversity of which benefits the common good and builds up the Body of Christ. We skip over verses 8-11, which describe the various manifestations of the Spirit: wisdom, knowledge, faith, healing, miracles, prophecy, discernment of spirits, and the gift of tongues and their interpretation (he lists the gift of tongues last purposefully, to counter those who would claim it was a higher gift). Our reading leads into the rest of 1 Corinthians 12 and 13, where Paul continues his discussion of gifts of the Spirit by outlining a “still more excellent way,” the greatest manifestation of the Holy Spirit: love (12:31).

GOSPEL

JOHN 20:19-23 On the evening of that first day of the week, when the doors were locked, where the disciples were, for fear of the Jews, Jesus came and stood in their midst and said to them, “Peace be with you.” When he had said this, he showed them his hands and his side. The disciples rejoiced when they saw the Lord. Jesus said to them again, “Peace be with you.” As the Father has sent me, so I send you.” And when he had said this, he breathed on them and said to them, “Receive the Holy Spirit. Whose sins you forgive are forgiven them, and whose sins you retain are retained.”

Unlike the longer timeline presented in our reading from Acts, in John’s Gospel the resurrection, the ascension, and the outpouring of the Spirit are described in a condensed manner.

Christian belief in the Holy Spirit as the Third Person of the Trinity was not officially defined by the church until the fourth century. But centuries earlier, the Hebrew Scriptures and the New Testament were already describing the action and presence of God’s Spirit. In The Holy Spirit in the Bible, George Smiga unpacks key Scripture passages, exploring the activity of the Spirit at creation, within Israel, in the ministry of Jesus and the early church, and at the end of time. The role of the Holy Spirit in our personal and spiritual lives is also explored. 6 lessons.

The Bible is full of passages in which angelic beings are sent to accomplish God’s will. Angels speak for God, direct the course of nations, and protect God’s people. They worship God and deliver God’s judgment. In Angels in the Bible, George Smiga examines some of the Bible’s most fascinating passages about angels, exploring their ministry on God’s behalf and drawing insights for our own spiritual lives. Because angels are mediators of God’s presence and action, studying angels is studying God. 6 lessons.

   You can use a DVD if you prefer! There are two ways to watch our video lectures. A link to the online lectures is provided in each book, but if your group prefers to use a DVD, they are available for purchase for every study in this series.
   Groups that meet in person can stream the online lectures if they have internet access, or they can purchase a DVD if they prefer.
   Groups that meet online can “share screen” and view the online lectures.

3. Are group discounts available?
   Yes! When ordering for your group, you will receive a discount on orders of 5 or more of the same book ($13.95 net each). Orders of 15 or more come with even greater discounts ($10.95 net each).

4. Why are some of these studies divided into Part One and Part Two?
   We’ve found that most groups prefer to meet for 4–6 weeks at a time, so some of our studies are divided into two parts. If your group would like to do one of the longer studies straight through, simply purchase Parts One and Two together and study them back-to-back for an in-depth Bible study experience.

5. Will all of the LRSS Classic Studies (pages 28–30) be moving into this new format?
   The majority of our Classic Studies will steadily move into this new format, with everything you need together in one book, discount pricing for groups, and free online lectures (or DVDs for purchase).
